ECHOES OF THE HEAVENLY MUSIC.

"More joy in Heaven over one sinner that repents, than over ninety-nine just persons that need no repentance."

"NOTHING BUT THY BLOOD CAN SAVE ME."

MILLBROOK. — Sunday, farewell of Captain and Mrs. Walker. Good meetings all day. Enrollment of Bro. and Sister Beaman, of Danvers, (outpost) at night, who by the power of God have been rescued from a life of sin. — F. R. B.

BRUSSELS. — Last week was one of blessing. Monday, a cottage meeting, when God helped ONE POOR BACKSLIDER to seek her Father's home.

Wednesday another cottage meeting. God came very near. Result, TWO SOULS for pardon, one a poor backslider. Others convicted.

Friday, 4.80, over pitch-holes and slews, to WHONSTON. We were ten strong in the open air, vines included. Good crowd and attention. Beautiful time inside.

Powerful meetings all day Sunday and ONE SOUL in the holiness meeting who had wandered away through that idol-tobacco. — Lieut. W. J. Hancock for Capt. J. McDonald.

CARBERRY. — God is giving us victory. THREE MORE SOULS last week; one a Roman Catholic. We are treading on the devil's corns. Of course, in return he does some kicking. — Adet J. Mercer.

PETERBORO. — Continual soul-refreshing times. THREE SOULS at the Cross last Sunday. — S. C. May Lang.

NANAIMO, B. C. — Captain Corlett has left; in her stead Captain Cowan, from Manitoba, takes the reins. She also finds quite a change coming from that frigid region to this land of almost continual summer.

The first time she was out SELLING WAR CRY, she entered a crowded saloon, when some one called out for a Song from the New Captain.

Ever ready to "sow beside all waters," the request was granted, but the song was of such a nature that the weight of the words caused some serious thoughts about their souls, the result was FIVE WAR CRY SOLD. Good meetings, good interest, big blessings. — J. Slick.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I. — Praise God for ever! When our Ensign arrived home this week she found FOUR NEW SOLDIERS on the platform, three of whom (one) had been saved during her absence, and intend becoming full-fledged Salvationists. Our hearts are all aglow with joy and gratitude to God who has so greatly honored our faith. Many more are convicted. We are rejoicing greatly over Ensign's return, and are glad to welcome Lieutenant French.

Since writing the above, ONE SISTER and TWO BROTHERS have come out and sought salvation. Hallelujah! Splendid wind-up. Soldiers and Christian friends marched round the Barracks on Sunday night rejoicing. — Secretary M. F. Sullivan.

WESTVILLE, N. E. — Wednesday we had a "call on" meeting, which was very interesting. Saturday night ENSIGN GALT and LIEUT. FRENCH with us. Hall crowded. A gentleman gave SEROT, WATERS one dollar to be given away in WAR CRY. Meetings are well attended. — Secretary L. Lorimer.

BLOOMFIELD. — Arrived here all O. K. Saturday afternoon. Barracks crowded Saturday night and all day Sunday. At Gilead outpost ONE SOUL came to Jesus. We give God all the glory. — Lieut. Amy Norman for Captain Tovell.

BLENNHEIM. — An enrolment of SEVEN, one young man being a recruit for two years, not being willing to be enrolled as a soldier. A real fight with the tobacco devil, but succeeded in putting him to flight. Some using the weed for years have given it up and going to serve God with clean musc, as well as clean hearts.

Another case, Bro. V., who has been a nominal Christian for 12 years, throws himself into the light in the Salvation Army, saying he would rather war out than rust out. Quite a number more to be enrolled.

SHELburnE. — After six weeks' fighting, at last a break has come. ONE PRICHOUS SOUL sought and found Christ. We are in for war here at Shelburne. — Yours in light and win, Lizzie Allard, Lieut.

RIDGE-TOWN. — The old train is a moving pretty slowly, but we are firing up, and hope to get more steam on shortly. CAIT. CREIGHTON, the L. P. Agent, was here two days. — Lieut. Tooka.

ORANGEVILLE. — Victory again. ONE SOUL cried for mercy and has been testifying to the saving and keeping power of God. Although we have no officers yet, God is helping us to go in with all our might. We have been having some good times with God. Hallelujah! — Yours under the flag, The Lark.

"EUPHONY."

A noble old tune rearranged by the Commandant at the 3rd of Prayer in Lippincott Barracks

2 Still high me, O my Saviour! stand,
And guard in fierce temptation's hour;
Hide in the hollow of Thy hand;
Show forth in me Thy saving power.
Still be Thy art my soul's defence,
Nor earth nor hell shall pluck me thence.

3 When darkness intercepts the skies,
And sorrow's waves around me roll,
When high the storms of passion rise,

And half o'erwhelm my sinking soul:
My soul a sudden calm shall feel,
And hear a whisper, "Peace, be still!"
4 Though in affliction's furnace tried,
Calmt on waves and death I'll tread;
Though sin assail, and hell throw wide,
Pour all its flames upon my head,
Like Moses' bush, I'll mount the higher,
And flourish, unconsumed, as fire.

CAPT. CREIGHTON on hand Saturday and Sunday. Did good service. Fired right and left, and succeeded in capturing two souls. — Captain Stubbs.

KINGSTON. — Just concluded a grand week of victory. Salvation meetings good. Holiness meetings, "Heaven on earth" times, SIX SOULS saved, an ex-officer among the number. She has taken her stand on the platform. — Hallelujah Tailor.

BRACEDRIDGE. — Souls have been saved, and I have said farewell to the people. Of late there has been a number of deaths here; among them Mrs. Laddard, who was as a mother to nearly all officers of earlier days, and was to the last. We have opened our new Barracks, a real gem. — R. Wilson, Captain.

ATHENS. — Had a good week-end. Crowds, order, attention, collections, and some convicted of sin. Some were moved to tears, but would not yield. We feel sure of victory. — Capt. Clara Stata.

LINDSAY. — Very good time here yesterday. God blessed us in our souls, and also TWO SISTERS came out for cleansing, and at night a POOR SOUL CAME TO BE SAVED. — M. A. Waite, Ensign.

PARIS. — Steadily gaining ground. Since last report prisoners have been captured. Some that have been afraid to venture out have at last broken loose, and Christ has got full possession. Drunkards visit our Barracks frequently. Our prayer is that God will save their souls. — W. M. S. C.

HALIFAX I. — On Monday night ONE SOUL at the Cross. And on Thursday we held a Trades' Union meeting. And on Sunday, good meetings, and SIX SOULS. Hallelujah! — Sergt-Major Casbin.

UNBRIDGE. — ENROLLED TWO RECRUITS a week ago. Have had TWO SOULS protest salvation while visiting, and ONE SOUL at the penitentiary. The devil is mad, and I am glad. Glory, Hallelujah! — Capt. Parker for Ensign Arlett.

WATFORD. — We have had the privilege of fighting for God six weeks in Watford. During that time we have had our O. O., Adjutant Smeeton, and his Musical Troupe for a week's entertainment. The meetings were splendid, and we halted up Sunday night with ONE SOUL and a hallelujah dance, being the Captain's first dance in ten years. Since then a PRODIGAL has returned, and TWO came out for perfect deliverance. — Lieut. P. E. Bentley for Capt. Scott.

MORRISBURG. — We are not dead nor sleeping, but fighting the devil with all our might. Our Special Correspondent, Katie Whitaker, P. again came to the front of the line. Our old officers farewell and the new ones have taken hold with bright prospects of victory. Their first Sunday's meetings were grand, and they Ghost Power. Good crowds, and best of all, ONE VOLUNTEER for Jesus. — A. A. Whitaker, S. C.

CHELSEY. — We had Captain and Mrs. McLeone with us for a week-end. Captain Dodd, who from Owen Sound, is holding on. Captain Dodd has been very sick, but he is recovering. — T. Hoddinott, Captain.

COXWALL. — Arrived here on Saturday, full of faith for victory. Sunday, beautiful meetings. At night a young man, who has been convicted for some time VOLUNTEERED OUT as soon as prayer meeting began. He wept bitterly on account of his sins, and it was not long before he arose and testified that his burden was gone. Thank God! ANOTHER GRL professed to get right. — Florence Calhoun.

CHATHAM. — Cadet Coy has arrived here, and is having great victory over the devil, and 13 SOULS have been made happy in God. Hallelujah! WATKINSON. — Just had a real successful supper. God helped us to raise some money to clear away some of the debt. ENSIGN LEE, Bro. RICHMOND, and a band of comrades from OWEN SOUND came over, and led off a real auction sale, and (publish it not in battle some of them danced). God came and blessed us by His presence, and your amiable servant's heart feels much lighter since some of the debt is gone. ONE more soul, and more coming soon. — Capt. A. Creamer.

WESTVILLE. — Glad to tell you that we are having victory in the meetings. Though not seeing a lot of souls, yet God is convicting, and we are believing for a smash. The G. B. M. Scheme is proving a success here. The people are taking hold of it in earnest, and contributing liberally. Am hoping to get $200. Have got 78 boxes out, believing to get more out. — Local Agent, Robert Lauchlan.

THE OTHER MAN.

"From the City Colony to the Farm,
Transplanted Junes will be;
And then with rural knowledge armed.

"To the Colony over Sea;
Old things will pass away, you'll see,
And everything be new,
You'll read the name, John Jones,
M. P.,
When the General's dream comes true."

"Steaming in mid-ocean, the captain of a trading vessel discovered on the horizon what appeared to be a deserted ship. On coming up with her, and finding no evidences of life in reply to his summons, he despatched a boarding party, which, after a search, came upon the prostrate body of a solitary seaman in a state of complete exhaustion and insensibility. The poor fellow was taken back to the Tender, quickly wrapped in blankets, and put to bed. After a while, he opened his eyes, and, taking in the situation with the rapid glance of a returning consciousness, laid a feeble hand on the arm of his attendant, and drawing down his ear to the parched lips, whispered in accents of terrible apprehension, "WILLIE IS THE OTHER MAN?" They returned to the derelict and found and saved him also."

Rush! The Light Brigade.

KINGSTON AGENTS are taking hold of things in proper form. Bro. Downey is a reckless Salvationist, and will do something desperate. Sister Downey is the agent for No. 1 Ward, and a slip off the same block. QUERRE in the past has done well, and will do better still. The people are very much in sympathy with our Social work.

THE STERILIZING AGENT is confident of a great increase. The fact that the boxes are a blessing to the corps in advertising and training the people to give should encourage everybody.

MONTREAL is sure to multiply her takings, with such abundant evidence of the practical good accomplished at her doors.

CORNWALL has done well and will do better.

BROCKVILLE is yet deeply in debt to the Social Reform Work.

OTTAWA, the imperial city, should do a good thing. Requires prompt attention, at proper time.

BELLEVILLE Agent has got properly into harness and we fully expect better things.

CODRUG has a brand new agent and no doubt will go ahead at a booming rate.

PITTSBORO has always done well and will do better still. And now, oh ye agents, everywhere in the East Ontario Province, with Salvation Army opportunities, and Salvation Army direction and system, backed up by the Salvation Army Holy Ghost, you should go through like a whirlwind, and do something good towards supporting our social institutions.

NOTES ON SPECIAL EFFORTS.

BY J. READ, MAJOR.

Still the pumps are at work. Still the old chariot wheels continue to revolve. Still the Army progresses all over the world. But, BUT, as is always the case, more power is needed at the pumps, more grease must be rubbed in the wheels, more money is needed to push the war, and more cash we must have.

THE NAVAL BRIGADE will be a great impetus to the constant and ever-drained Salvation Army Exchequer. She will be well manned by a good crowd of young men, who will devote all their time and energies to soul-saving. Then, of course, all loyal Americans and Canadians on both sides the line will welcome this happy crew, and do their best to help them.

Many Auxiliary members are sending along their renewed subscriptions. For this the Commandant is grateful. Now, and not each Auxiliary use their influence, and during the coming year, secure six other members, who in their turn could secure others. Thus there would be heaps of good accomplished. Auxiliaries are needed to help in spheres where Salvationists have very little scope. They can do so much good in their own special way. WANTED: 500 new Auxiliary members.

The "LIGHT BRIGADE," too, is certainly becoming a source of financial blessing. The Provincial Agents are moving around their respective provinces and meeting with success. The Local Agents, too, are a brave crowd, but in every case, more attention must be given to the details of the Scheme. Parents should see that their children do not play with the boxes. Then Lazarus should be remembered at every Sunday meal, at least. Put this little box on the table and drop in your copper, taking care to see that all your friends do likewise. It will be a great assistance and help.

The following is clipped from an Auxiliary: "What does the Salvation Army have about what the Rev. this or that think of them as long as they know what God thinks."

A Staff Officer writes: "I am always happiest when considering the Territorial or world-wide needs in preference to the Local."

There is a great deal underlying the above short paragraph. Major Bennett writes with regard to Captain Bailey, P. A., for Manitoba: "I want to help him all I can."

Endre, of Springfield, Minn., writes a cheering letter, enclosing $1 for Mr. Tuttle, of Wallis Bay, N. S. Repeat the dose, Ensign, a thousand fold, please.

Captain Pugh sends $15.75 box money. He says he has had much to praise God for, and keeps up a very cheerful spirit. He says he will do his level best to secure Auxiliaries and relieve matters financially. Both Pugh and Bailey have ordered another stock of boxes. This looks healthy indeed. Praise God! keep it up!

Then the Samaritan Brigade keeps on the move, and too, are helping financially, as well as spiritually. Captain Scobell and his braves are doing well. I must just send them a word of advice telling them to be on the look-out for Auxiliaries, and subscribers for the Army's periodicals. The Secretary of the Brigade reports big times, and all kinds of experiences are recounted. God bless these boys! Wait till the P. A. get their new lanterns and slides. Then won't things hum!

An Edict has gone forth that Headquarters Staff Officers shall systematically visit the different corps in and around Toronto. The Commandant and Mrs. Booth will be leading special engagements in different centres. Colonel Holland, too, will be leading on week-end attacks. Then there are Brigadier Jacobs, Majors Campbell, Strickland, Friedland, Head and Fry, and a crowd of others, not forgetting the famous Staff Band. These specials will create interest in the Army. Let the whole Field pray for their success.

Reader, join the Auxiliary League. Terms, $5 per annum, together with an "All the World" or "War Cry."

Reader, would you help poor Lazarus? Then take a G. B. M. Box.

Wanted! Young men to volunteer for the Naval Brigade. See particulars on another page. Hurry up!

REPORTS PROGRESS

VICTORIA, B. C.—On arrival at the Coast, I was much impressed by the spirit of the place, and more so by the spirit of the soldiers. They are a lovely crowd of people.

I HAVE not seen any "blowed up sleeves" (puffed) on the platform, but ALL dress in regulation uniform, as men and women professing Godliness. Hallelujah!

I SAW on the platform Sunday night two brass bands, one composed of men, the other of women. Music in the open air. Music in the Barracks, and best of all, music in the hearts. These people pray as well as play.

And Indians, Japanese, Chinese, Bohemians, and colored people in our ordinary week-night meeting. They love the Army meetings, and attend quite frequent.

And the tears running down the cheeks of a poor, old drunkard, as the Bible was being read. I also saw the same poor drunkard, along with another man, at the Mercy Seat.

And carpenters, plumbers, soldiers, and bums, all working on the new Shelter. Progress!

I also saw one ton of potatoes, that had been sent in to the Shelter as a donation from a lady. The people are very kind.

OPENING OF THE RESCUE HOME,

St. John's, Newfoundland.

(Specially contributed by a friend.)

The Salvation Army have fulfilled the Divine command, "Let your light so shine," etc. This light can in no way be hidden. We are sensible of their broad Christian views, and we cannot but admire the bright, earnest zeal displayed by them during their early days in Newfoundland, when they were very little understood, and as little appreciated; but with their characteristic earnestness, they have become more and more understood, and have enrolled themselves under the banner, determined to do and dare all in the service of their Master. Their chief aim is to "Rescue the perishing."

ENTRANCE TO ST. JOHN HARBOR, New Foundland.

Irrespective of Class or Creed.

This view of their work has lately been brought to my notice, when a few days ago, I had the pleasure, together with a number of others, of visiting the Rescue Home in response to an invitation from the esteemed officer in charge, Captain Jost. This Home, recently been fitted up for the reception of a class of unfortunate, abandoned by themselves and the world. In it they receive kind, careful treatment, the comforts of a good home, with all its relieving influences, and by undying efforts made in their behalf, each one is fitted for some useful sphere in life. There are now in the home TEN GIRLS, during the past six months, four had been sent to good situations, two others ready to leave, one of them in a short time proceeding to Canada.

It is most gratifying to see the extreme order and neatness in every detail of the Home, and the contented faces as they sit in their bright, clean room, each engaged in some useful occupation, with apparently no desire to return to their former habits. The position of the officers in charge is a peculiarly trying one, hampered as they must sometimes be for lack of ways and means to properly sustain such a necessary institution, and here is disposed, who can do so much in helping forward such a good cause. Almost all the expense in connection with the fitting up and furnishing of the Home was met by voluntary contributions in the way of free labor, gifts of furniture, etc. CAPT. JOST seems to have a peculiar talent for this special work of charity, and is ably assisted by her aides, MISS LAMB and MISS NIXON, these ladies may be found, who leave all and consecrate themselves to the service of their Master. Who has said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

A Call to the Charitably

STAFF-CAPTAIN McMillan.

Writing from JOE BEEF'S CONVENTION says: "We are very much in need of a horse, wagon and harness to develop our social work in Montreal. Will some kind friend forward the same to Staff-Captain McMillan, Salvation Light-house, Montreal? Freight paid if possible."

It is no doubt easier for God to stop sinners than it is to turn a man around, who has always been in the habit of having his own way.

THE COMMANDANT

ORILLIA, BRACEBRIDGE, HUNTSVILLE and GRAVENHURST.

Orillia.

So much has already been said about Orillia in the "Cry," that one finds it extremely difficult to get anything fresh, as far as the town is concerned, to report. The meetings are always fresh, especially in this so when our dear leader pays us a visit, and would require the pen of a ready writer to record them properly.

Saturday night had been set apart for a Soldiers' Council, which was held in the "Brethren's Hall," a place just to the Commandant's taste, large enough for the crowd expected and no more. Being Saturday night, some of the comrades could not get away from their several businesses; about seventy-five of us enjoyed a good time. "The Day of Pentecost" was the theme. Oh! how our hearts burned within us. Never before did we so fully understand what it meant by being soldiers in the Salvation Army, and fighting in the Spirit. At the close, twenty-five stood up for some special need, and we all pledged ourselves to more devoted service in the future, especially in our to-morrow's campaign.

ORILLIA, FROM "THE NARROWS."

Sunday all day was but a continuation of Saturday night. The Soldiers rallied to a man, stuck by their guns, and fired as long as the enemy appeared in sight. Ensigns Turner, McMillan, Wale and Bourc helped to the fullest extent of their ability, as did also Captain Frink and Lieutenant Cowden. The two latter officers, by-the-way, are en route to open fire on North Bay.

We were very to note that the Commandant was in anything but good trim; his heart troubled him greatly. This, however, was only known to a few, as on the platform he worked away with his usual vim and dash, and few were aware of the tortures the efforts cost him.

Bracebridge.

OPENING OF NEW BARRACKS, order of the day. Some time ago, our comrades here intended to fix the old Barracks, but while in the net of raising the structure, something gave way, and the whole affair tumbled into the foundations. Here was a nice mess, but with a modified enthusiasm, and "quite Salvation Army-like," rose to the occasion and decided to go in for a new Barracks altogether, which has, thank God, become an established fact. As to the building itself, for all practical purposes, it is all that could be desired—light, airy, and roomy, fitted up with all modern improvements, including electric light.

"ELECTRIC LIGHT! Yes, indeed," said the Commandant. "I have been in some of the largest halls in the world: in Regent's Hall, that world-renowned Hall of the great Metropolis; in the Congress Hall, to my mind the Hall of Halls, for was it not there where was held some years ago, one of the most interesting meetings I have ever been permitted to attend—the hall I was married in, and yet none of those halls had one single electric light in them. It is when we come to Bracebridge that we find the true spirit of the nineteenth century, proper go-ahead-ism and dash. Needless to say, this analogy "caught on."

Here we were joined by Captains Gibbs and May, another set of pioneers working their way to open fire on Sudbury, famous for its nickel mountains, and being the centre of the nickel industry. Both of the Captains are tried and faithful officers, and we predict for them a glorious and successful campaign.

Another interesting feature of the Bracebridge visit was the installation and promotion of Captain (now Ensign) Arthur Savage, D. O., of Bracebridge. God bless Ensign and Mrs. Savage, and the little Savage.

Brigadier de Barritt made his first appearance at Bracebridge after a long and somewhat painful sickness; he was all there, however, and very much alive.

ness: every moment not in the meetings was taken up with plans for the War. Tackling people on the train about the raising of pigs, poultry, etc., sandwiching everything in with a word about the spiritual welfare. By this means much valuable information and help was obtained. For instance, one dear gentleman told how to feed pigs, by which you could increase their weight 400 per cent. In six months. We'll have to try this racket! Another decided to give him a timber limit, with farm lands, etc., complete, free gratis. Wonderful! Isn't it?

And then the correspondence. Not only to and from every corner of Canada, but almost every part of the globe, every incoming mail bringing with it a fresh supply, and every outgoing mail laden with answers. The Commandant is by no means confined to the "Middle room behind the green baize doors on Albert Street!" Oh, no; he carries headquarters with him. Typewriter and papers hummer-alike. Everything complete, down to the stick of sealing wax.

HUNTSVILLE CORPS.

The meeting in Snyder's Hall was a roaring success. The place was filled, in fact, so much so, that one of the supports of the ceiling fell out of place, and we were fearful of something happening. The audience was distinctly characteristic of the place. The Muskoka are a jolly, happy, free lot of people; one feels quite at home among them.

Between meetings, the Commandant was simply swamped with busi-

BRACEBRIDGE NEW BARRACKS

OPENED WITH ECLAT.

Big Numbers Assembled—Indian Braves Prophecy—Sinners Get Saved.

A short time ago, Bracebridge Barracks, whilst undergoing repairs, fell to the ground. Not at all daunted, the officers and soldiers set to, and a week or so ago, they opened a brand-new building, seating about 250 people, with a small hall, seating 65. The opening services were of great interest, and did much good. ENSIGN BLACKBURN, CAPT. BANKS and the saved Indians from Kamax, were the special. On the Sunday seven souls were found at the Cross, and thus the barracks was dedicated to the salvation of souls. The Indians just simply "took." Their singing captivated the attention of all, and their costume won for them the crowd drew large crowds. Each of them had a word for Jesus. John Wesley, years ago, went through here when there was only one house. All this land he had cleared and his hunting grounds. Now he was saved and the Salvation Army to hunt souls. Mother had passed through this country when not a white person lived here, but she then the white man had come, and also the Salvation Army. She came to us, got converted, and now she led her Salvation.

Sergeant George met the Army in Orillia nine years ago. He was a desperate sinner, but God picked him up, filled him with His Spirit, and now he could shout and dance before the Lord.

Tom Wesley was an awful drunkard. He often, when calling at Bracebridge, got drunk, and rolled around the streets, but, as he said, "Salvation Army preach in street, tell poor Indian, Tom of Jesus. Who would save even me." He got saved some four years ago in Orillia, and since he has led his mother and brother to the Cross. His little boy, who used to cry hysterically when he came home drunk, now would sing and rejoice with him.

Captain Richmond, from Huntsville, and Captain and Mrs. McMillan, from Gravenhurst, brought along their braves on the Monday, and altogether a grand march advertised the night meeting. On the platform were Rev. Mr. Blatherwick, (Baptist) and Rev. Mr. Clark (Presbyterian). The Rev. Mr. Clark (Methodist) was unable to be present. They spoke very favorably of our work, and encouraged us to keep true to our calling. Before the close, another backslider returned home, Captain Wilson, who has been in charge of the Bracebridge Corps, has worked very hard to put up this building, and should be congratulated on the result.

The Good Samaritan Brigade has done exceedingly well on their recent visits. Rule is all the more creditable, as they are short-handed. They will soon be in Toronto again, and will probably be made members of the Naval Brigade.

SIMCOE.—The Good Samaritan Brigade visited us for the Saturday and Sunday. Saturday night the barracks was filled. Lecture on the General's Darkest England Scheme by Captain Scott, illustrated by a magic lantern. Proceeds, fifteen dollars. Sunday night, building packed. Many under deep conviction. We hung on till twelve o'clock, till every sinner was out of the building. Wound up with FIVE SOULS for the day. Hallelujah!—G. S., for Capt. Scott.

Lieutenant Rushbrook, the Army's Engineer, has left Toronto for Kingston to put the "William Booth" into thorough working order previous to the summer's campaign. Oh, ye volunteers for the yacht! THE COMMANDANT,

And His Headquarter's Escort at Lippincott.

WORDS OF FIRE, AND CLEAR, STRAIGHT LOGIC.

The First Day of the Week's City Campaign.

The Commandant is always definite and concise, but possibly never before have we been more impressed with the similarity between his frequent addresses, and the printed sermons of his glorified mother, Catharine Booth, with their skilful, pointed, and exhaustive train of argument.

FREEDOM was the touchword given to the afternoon meeting by the first chorus:

"Free, free, flowing so free." Major Complin thanked God that this freedom was to him a solid, substantial reality—a power that was able to raise into newness of life every sin-bound soul in the meeting. One member after another of the Staff spoke to the same effect at the leader's bidding.

Bible in hand, the Commandant rose to read a few words, with a running commentary on the text. The subject was the story of the woman who touched the Saviour in the throng, and was straightway made whole. The Commandant commenced by asking the audience to do us the justice of believing we were sincere. Whilst possibly differing from us in many questions, no one could deny our earnest desire for their souls' salvation. He dwelt on to confirm anything, whether for good or evil, whether in the force of habit, or in the hold of disease.

He touched with tender pathos on that never-to-be-forgotten day when his now tainted mother traversed alone the weary length of London, to seek the advice of the most skilful of skilful medical men, only to return with the sad assurance that all that could be done was to prolong life as far as possible—the fatal disease was beyond cure.

Colonel and Mrs. Dowdie. Wonder-devotion, their self-forgetfulness, their willingness to work the very flesh off their bones to save it—then the sorry business when the doctor pronounces the case hopeless! Human aid fails. So in the instance of the woman with the issue of blood. Eighteen years she had sought for human aid, growing more and more hopeless with repeated disappointment! How the devil would whisper discouragement to her ear as she followed Christ in the throng.

So with the sinner, year after year, seeking salvation from the power of sin by human agency, turning from one thing to another—only to be baffled; making long lists of good resolutions, possibly

To Sign Them with Their Own Blood

—all in vain!

Then the Commandant pictured the remedy, the only one remedy. The poor woman had grasped it. She said, "IF I MAY BUT TOUCH." She realizes the fatality of human aid, and turned to the divine. The Commandant compared her story and the experience of the sinner with that of the prodigal, who, sick of his own resources, and the fatality of earthly help, conscious he is growing worse all the time, and that the final day of reckoning is coming soon, at last throws himself on the mercy of God, and comes up to the point of touch by an act of faith.

Our leader further defined the distinction between faith and trust.

The Faith of Mere Theory, and the trust of action and committal. No college education is required to trust—a baby can trust, with the trust that TOUCHES. The Commandant enlarged on the various ways the people in that great crowd touched the Saviour, the touch of curiosity, the touch of amusement, the touch of spite, and many more; but Jesus discerned the touch of faith above all others.

It is difficult to understand how any unsaved soul could erode the personal application and the appeal that followed this brief suggestion of a heart-stirring address.

After more prayer, and song, and testimony, the flag of ten thousand fights was unfurled above the heads of two comrades, who were enrolled as soldiers of the Salvation Army.

Winnipeg and Emerson Campaigns.

At Winnipeg, Mrs. Bennett and I took the Soldiers' Meeting, and also the entire Sunday's meetings, both inside and out.

MAJOR BENNETT.

The soldiers and friends gave us a right royal welcome. I am delighted with the spirit of the corps and with the action of the soldiers in every attack made. They fought for souls with much determination and faith. The result of the meetings was TEN SOULS for the blessing and salvation. I visited Emerson for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, accompanied by Captain McGill, of Winnipeg. We were met at the station by Eugene Smith and Captain Jarvis, who drove off to the hotel. I was in the hospital of Brother and Sister Christy.

MRS. MAJOR BENNETT.

On Saturday night, we had a hard-hitting, open-air meeting in front of the largest hotel in the town. The music and singing drew the people to the best side of the tap-room (the outside).

The hall was full. We had a bumping collection, and much faith and prayer was used for the salvation of the ungodly. Sunday, largest knec-drell on record. "Souls," was the topic of all talk and prayer. We had three marches and stormed another fort of darkness in the shape of a ram shop.

Captain McGill's singing and playing was made a wonderful blessing. The result of the day was ONE SENIOR and ONE JUNIOR. Monday there was a monster banquet in the Town Hall. Soldiers came for miles over the prairie. In the night meeting we had an enrolment and a dedication. The meetings ended with a ten cent supper and great rejoicing in the saving power of God.

The Sergeant-Majors and a large number of soldiers came in from the brigades attached to the corps. The Junior Work is not forgotten. They have their own Sergeant, who has her work at heart.

Brigadier de Barratt and Staff have been fired with the ambition of annexing to the Salvation Army Empire the rapidly developing tract of land north of rocky Muskego, and westward to the Canadian "Soo." Our longing has come to a practical issue. An attacking party was formed, consisting of CAPT. GIBBS, MAY, FRINK AND SIMS, LIEUTENANT COWDEN, and CANDIDATE BACON. Ensign TURNER had charge of the expedition. Meetings were held at all the principal corps on the way up. Much schools. A registry office, seven licensed hotels, two large saw-mills, two weekly newspapers, a Mechanics' Institute, five churches, and a paid Fire Brigade are other features. It has a population of 2,500.

CAPTAIN BARKS, the advance agent, had leased a hall, and all Saturday the invaders were kept busy, unking seats, etc. At the first open air, about one-fifth of the population stood round, full of wonder. The Barracks, holding 300, was packed. Sunday was the real "opening" day, and to large crowds of people the Gospel of Jesus Christ was delivered in real Salvation Army style. At night, in spite of the curiosity of the people, THREE SOULS came out for salvation. Sister DYER, an old Barrie soldier, was enrolled at night, and took her stand boldly for God. A Holiness Meeting was held on Monday, and a sister named THE BLESSING of a clean heart. Altogether, the people of North Bay are most kind, and have shown much practical sympathy. Captain FRINK and Lieutenant COWDEN have taken charge, and are going to reap a rich spiritual harvest. The rest of the party have gone farther along on the C. P. R. line, to open up Sudbury and a few other places.

interest was shown in the undertaking, especially as they came nearer the desired land. At Huntsville, the COMMANDANT gave the party his blessing, and at Burke's Falls, in the Methodist church, the people flocked in crowds, and warmly applauded the advent of the Salvationists into their district. At last North Bay, the first corps to be opened, was reached.

North Bay is an incorporated town on the northeast shore of Lake Nipissing, on the main line of the C. P. R., 227 miles north of Toronto, and 302 west of Montreal. It is a sectional division of the C. P. R., has a fine ability, and the possibilities; and I guess he reckons they are all right.

BUT he hasn't been doing all his fighting out on the prairies. You ought to see the blood and fire "Declaration of War," and call for volunteers for the field fight, that he has got printed and put up in all the Barracks in the West, to scare the devil and worry some of our good soldiers! It also contains a proposition to open fire on 14 new towns, and other important advances. A general inspection of the inside of the forts has likewise been taken, and everything put in shape for a tremendous fight this coming summer. Say hurrah! Amen! that's it.

REGINA, the capital of the N. W. T., is to be bombarded by the S. A. guns, big and little, on or about the 21st. This is the town where the rebellious Louis Riel was hung for the Indian rebellion some years ago, and it is to be hoped that every devil will get the same fate. I'd like to pull the rope.

RAT PORTAGE is about ready for bombardment, too, and in two or three weeks the roar of the S. A. artillery will be an astonisher for the devil and his troops in that nice little town.

WHAT ABOUT DELOIRANE, away down there in Southern Manitoba, near the U. S., where the No. 1 hard wheat grows? We are arranging to get a barracks, and already there are four good soldiers all in line, waiting for some one to drill them. The great trouble is no officers. The Macedonian cry is coming from all over the great West. Oh, Lord, make some of the soldiers quake when they see those "call to war" bills.

THANK GOD, the British Columbia Indians have got their call for an officer answered. Ensign Edgecomb passed through Winnipeg a few days ago en route to Port Simpson, to take command of their "home-made Salvation Army" as well as to inspect that part of the new field. He has no small task. He will likely go as far up the coast as Sitka, in Alaska. Pray for him. He will need it, for he has to learn to talk Chinook, a jargon concocted by the Hudson's Bay Company in the early days, and which is used by all the Indians. He will need some officers, too. Soldier, apply at once! Kuntux tillikum? Hiack!

We move "down town" and will have part of the upper flat of the Steller building for our new place of business. This soul-saving behind the scenes business. The Major and his "men of the pen and mill" as well as the Trade Depot, will all be quartered under one roof, while the wonderful Jubilee Tea will have a chance of being seen in one of the large Main Street windows, with other S. A. goods. And the object for which we work and toil—salvation of sinners—is being accomplished, praise God! From a number of corps comes the reports of great soul-saving campaigns and revivals of the old-time glory. Bless God for ever. Amen.

"SINNERS CRY FOR MERCY."

We had a good start at kne-drell. Soldiers got on fire in the morning. The Major's remarks were timely and opportune, and did us all good. It seemed to get right into everybody's heart, and vice versa,—where there is unity there is strength.

The HOLINESS MEETING was equally good. A star stirring-up time. Mrs. Morris' talk was much appreciated, as was that of Adjutant Southall. The Major's Bible reading closed the meeting. One lady said "Glory to God," and did a little run to give vent to her feelings, while another brother could not help bursting out now and again in song, and so it went on.

In the afternoon, a large march, band to the front. Inside meeting well attended. God drew very near. Major Morris called upon his son, Lieutenant Morris, to sing, and touchingly referred to the time when the Lieutenant left home some four years ago to work for God. After this length of time expiring, God has ordered for them to be together again. Mrs. Adjutant Southall spoke, then the Adjutant, both of whom were heard with rapt attention. Sister Martin sang, accompanied by her autoharp. Mrs. Major Morris here read and spoke with great earnest-

It is in what I judge to be the best site in the city for a Shelter-on Main Street, just at the C. P. R. depot, within shouting distance of five or six public houses. Say "hurrah!" again.

SISTER SHERIDAN,

Of the Halifax League of Mercy.

LOYAL AND DEVOTED.Gave God His Heart at Her Bedside.

DEATH has been busy in our midst this past couple of months, taking from us Mother Hiltz, then Bro. Rafter, and now Sarah M. Sheridan, one of our most loyal and devoted soldiers of this corps, who has waged a good warfare. She was a sister of the League of Mercy. She had been sick in bed for some months, with a very painful malady, which she bore very patiently for Jesus' sake. One of her sons gave God his heart at her bedside. She was working for God even on her bed of affliction, sending for several comrades who had not been as faithful as they might have been, and urging them to give God

A Whole-Hearted Service, and be faithful to the end. It was her wish to be buried in full uniform, which was the case. She passed away triumphantly on the 17th March, leaving a husband, and six children, who will greatly miss her. The funeral took place on the following Wednesday afternoon. After holding a service at the house, about 100

One from our ranks has gone—gone to the Golden Shore, Where sickness ne'er shall trouble, And sorrow all be o'er; Done to be with Jesus, with Him above to reign, For ever free from sickness, set free from every pain.

HUNTSVILLE. — Mrs. Pell (wife of the Sergeant-Major) was a faithful soldier, and until the last, her life and religion spoke for Jesus. During her sickness, she was never heard to complain. On the morning of March 23rd, it was plainly seen that DEATH'S COLD, ICEY HAND was upon her. Captain Richmond, who heard her all while the last, asked her if it was well, to which she replied, "God's will is my will." A few minutes before passing away, she called for her two boys and said, "My boys, you are going to lose your mother, my good-bye before I go." The dear little boys sobbed aloud, and said "good-bye," the mother then

A SILVER FROST ushered in the first day of Spring. April came to the Social Farm with tears of ice on every twig, and branch, and bough. The cold glitter made it hard to realize that any buds of promise could be imprisoned in that glassy casing, or that any cloud so grey could ever show a silver lining—far less break at last in blessing!

Whooping cough has wrought sad havoc this winter among the children of Toronto, many a home has

and many a mother's heart a broken chord!

Staff-Capt. and Mrs. Collier's sweet, brown-eyed baby-girl had been ailing for a long time, but the last few days of dark March she seemed to pass through all the fiery furnace of anguish of watching their darling suffer intensely, whilst they were powerless to avert the pain or relieve the heaving breath.

When at last the soft sleep that God gives to His beloved, fell upon the innocent child, and then hushed for ever here the fluttering of the little heart—then her wondering brother—four years old—first freed the problem of death. "Why," he pleaded, with his mother, "Why leave baby alone in the cold? Why? Bring her into the warm!"

But the angel had reached the light and sunshine of perpetual spring, where never-withering flowers abound. Ah, Maudie, is very weary, compared to the peace where you are now!

Nearly all the officers and farmhands from the Colony were present at the meeting at the house, where Major Read held the service. A sight more touching can scarcely be conceived than the room full of with the tiny coffin in the midst, and one of their number kneeling in penitence beside it, humbled down at the feet of Calvary's Jesus.

In the Army lot, on Mount Pleasant, not far from the grave of Willie County, a comrade Collier was buried, with the cold wind howling, and snowing still. God comfort our sorrow-stricken comrades, Staff-Capt. and Mrs. Collier. Many hearts are weeping them up to Heaven in sympathy and prayer.

GRAND BANK, N.F.L.D.—We are glad to be able to report victory. Thursday was a blessed time, when one sister, after pleading at the Mercy Seat for quite a while, arose from her knees, and rejoiced in sin forgiven. Friday was to be the crowning time. Two souls for the blessing. THE GLORY BREEZE STRUCK THE SCHOONER, AND IN A FEW MINUTES THE SAILORS WERE ALL IN THE RANTING POOL—Captain W. Shaw.

HAUNT'S HARBOR.—The Heavenly gates are blowing here. We are having blessed times. Sunday meetings good. Thirty-two assembled for kuedrill. Beautiful crowds all day. At the night meeting TWO knelt at the cross. One brother, who had never been converted, threw his tobacco one way and his pipe another, and, we believe, got blessedly saved.

We rejoiced over a week-end with four professing to find salvation, which makes a total of TWELVE since you last heard from us. To God we give all the glory.—Captain M. Burt.

FOXTUNE.—A few things of what we have had and seen of late:

We had a DEATH meeting, and saw three souls at the Cross. We had a WEARY GLEANERS' march and the march, and in the meeting dressed in white hats and cottons; some were empty-handed. Others had nothing but leaves, and others were bringing their sheaves with them. Amongst us they brought them in. We had an ENROLLMENT, and saw three recruits enrolled as soldiers. We had a week of SPECIAL PRAYER and private meetings, and we have seen three souls almost every night and converts' faces glowing.—D. H., for Captain Keen.

ENSIGN GOODY sends us a graphic account of his travels, which we are unable to insert for want of space. He visited all the small islands and coves within reach, added by snowshoes, knapsack and stick. He visited Comfort Cove, Indian Arm, Scissors Cove, and Botwoodville. In all, he held 23 meetings, travelled 150 miles, visited 350 families, and saw 18 souls saved. Hallelujah!

BAY ROBERTS.—One of the worst sinners of Bay Roberts has been soundly converted to God. He was not inside a church for years. After a long struggle, the light of God broke into his soul, and 52 YEARS OF SIN rolled away. The SOLDIER and converts have given the Officers a big haul of wood. God bless them. Many who see a comrade attended our meetings are marching in our ranks. We close the week's fighting with 27 SOULS in the fountain, and soldiers all on fire.—Captain Janet Ebsary.

BIRD ISLAND COVE, N.F.L.D.—Hat! rap! rap!!! The audience stood against the wall, and the men on the platform, and rap away at the floor, crying out in agony for God to save the people before they dropped into hell. Nobody yielded, but we are believing souls to smother the devil and take his reward. Two Juniors were in unnoticed, when they found the parents of a cripple girl absent, and got her saved. Since then she can walk, which she couldn't do for a long time before.

The Lieutenant, while around visiting, prayed twice one day with a man who was soliciting names to start a rum shop. The devil is getting mad. Hurrah for King Jesus.—Lieut. Geo. Thompson.

WESLEYVILLE.—The devil has been defeated. On Sunday morning, one old man, of about 60 YEARS, came to the Mercy Seat, got pardoned, rose to his feet, praising God, threw his pipe in the stove, and told us of determination to be true. Wednesday he came from Ligon, Mountain: the barracks packed; an enrolment of NINE RECRUITS. Hallelujah! We drew in the net with FOUR HALLELUJAH FISH, which we trust will be preserved in the Heavenly market.—Lieut. W. Hawkins.

LITTLE BAY.—Snow very deep, but thank God, we're not buried. We're alive and fighting the devil. Since coming here, SIX WEARY SOULS have found rest in Jesus.

"Keep on believing this is the way. Faith in the night as well as the day."

CADET HURRY.

CARBONAR, N.F.L.D.—The work at this place is moving along in the style. We've had a Trades' Union meeting recently, and it went well. At the close of this meeting a young woman came forward for Salvation. We are on for victory.—Ensign H. Freeman.

JACKSON'S COVE.—We are not dead yet at Jackson's Cove, but winning in the name of Jesus. Souls are getting saved. Quarters built, and the devil is getting mad. Glory to God for ever!—B. M.

got in line and marched in procession to the barracks, headed by the Brass Band. Throngs of people witnessed the funeral as it made its way to the barracks, where a beautiful and stirring service was conducted by Ensign Gage, assisted by Ensign Andrews, Ensign Alex McLean, and Ensign Cowan, besides Captain Wright, of Dartmouth Corps, and Capt. Taylor, of Halifax B. Corps. Several impressive addresses were delivered. The people seemed to be melted down as the meeting went on. The hall was crowded. After the service, we turned up in line again, and marched slowly, and solemnly, to the Cemetery, where we committed her remains to the grave, to rise again at the general resurrection at the last day. After holding a short service, and commencing ourselves afresh to God, and His service to the end, we marched back to barracks, feeling that God's Kingdom will be extended through the death, and burial, of departed comrade. We sympathize and pray that God will sustain, and help Mr. Sheridan, and the children, who will feel keenly the loss of a good wife and mother, and may they meet the loved one who has gone to Heaven, never to part no more. In the Memorial Meeting, held on Sunday night, THREE SOULS knelt at the Mercy Seat, and found pardon and peace through the blood of Jesus. Praise God.—Sergt.-Major Castlin.

We buried her two days later, Capt. Richmond conducted the ceremony, assisted by Capt. Woolwich and soldiers. We met at the house at two o'clock for a short service, then proceeded to the barracks, which was packed to excess by those who came to pay the last tribute of respect to one, whom they had learnt to love. Not a dry eye was seen as Captain Richmond told of the last hours of our comrade, and many sobbed aloud in the bereaved husband spoke of the life of his departed wife. We buried her in the Salvation Army Cemetery in the certain hope of meeting again.—(Captain Sims for Capt. Richmond.)

The local paper contained a lengthy report of the funeral service, and spoke of her consistent life and triumphant death. The following note comes from Captain Richmond:—
HUNTSVILLE:—At the Memorial Service of Mr. Sergeant-Major Pell, SIX SOULS sought and found the Saviour, and many more were deeply convicted, but would not yield. During the week, from March 26th, till March 31st, EIGHTEEN CHILDREN and SIX SENIORS came to God and proved His saving power. Praise God for victory.

A Devil's Dreg Finds Redemption,

OR,

Part II. of the Licensed Saloon,

GENERALLY OMITTED FROM THE GOVERNMENT PAPERS.

BY THE EDITOR.

CHRIST reckons not how gutter-sodden be the human wreckage. He builds His New Jerusalem with, provided it first comes under the marvellous manipulation of His pierced hands.

SUCH a devil's dreg was Ben.

Ben, however, would never have dashed to death an angel-form, had PROHIBITION locked up the cursed stuff that crimson earth with the blood of the innocents shed at the Drink's behest.

BEN'S brain bred hopping demons and twirling snakes when the drink fumes reached it. Ben's "missus" went out washing while he "boozed."

(Legislators in Canada license the saloon and tax the sober, industrious, working man to help keep such as Ben, or those of his die too early to provide for.)

LILLY was the flaxen-haired angel. A heaven-taken in the gaunt abode of drunken misery. Mother's sunbeam.

THE JUNIORS meeting taught Lilly to sing,

"Jesus can keep little children
Good all the day, while they pray."

"Suffer the little ones to come UNTO ME" is still His sweet desire. Lilly must have gone to Him, for she sang her little chorus with a bubbling-up freedom of spirit which should not have been repressed.

It was afternoon. He was home drunk.

The little one sat in the corner—happy child—singing. Singing like bird in gruesome cage. "SHUT UP!"

The drunkard chopped off his words decisively and had hell in his eyes. Lilly was used to hard words, and stopped. He seemed to sleep.

She sang again.
"I tell yer shut up. I'll chuck yer down them stairs, yer—"—again silence!
Again, after an interval, she sang:

"Jesus can keep little children—!"

Like a sleuth how'd he is up and at her—"Ben! Ben! stop!"

He would have heard his conscience in a sober moment, but now it is drowned completely by the dance of demons in his brain, (thanks to the licensed saloon.)

A SHRIEK—a string of blasphemies, a growl, and Lilly lies at the stair bottom in a swoon.

(Result of licensed saloon.)

WHEN Ben's wife came home, tired, she found Lilly.

Isn't a woman's love an incomprehensible thing?

She told the doctor Lilly FELL down stairs. The doctor said Lilly would die next day.

BEN went to the "licensed saloon," and returned next day to his den (where Lilly lay dying) still primed with drink. When the little one's white face wreathed itself with a faint smile of welcome, and she began to speak of Jesus, it seemed to stir up some infernal dynamite in him, and, would you believe it, he made a movement at Lilly?

"Never," cried Ben's wife. "You've killed her almost, what more do you intend to do?"

Then Lilly looked up, and a light as from the Eternal, shone from her eyes.

"Father," she said,

"Jesus can keep little children
Good all the day."

"And, father, He can keep you. Won't you let Him?"

"POWER TO CAST OUT DEVILS," is conferred upon children, for they oftentimes outdo the mighty at that.

The words, no doubt, divinely sent, pierced through and through.

He fell to his knees. The brute in him went down through the mighty blow of God's truth and power. Before Lilly breathed her last breath, and went to the Country where they neither license saloons, or anything that defileth, she knew fathew was saved.

WHEN he told his story, as tell it he did, with broken utterances, on a Salvation Army platform, he said: "God has forgiven me, but I can never forgive myself. Oh, my Lilly! I'm a —"

QUERY.—In view of Part II, what are you going to do with the licensed saloon?

When I had Ceased from My Struggles.

I remember quite well a few mornings after I was saved, standing in a shop owned by one of the soldiers, and hearing him say that So-and-so had come out for "Sanctification" on Friday night. That was the first I ever heard of the blessing. I had no idea what it was. From my earliest recollections, I had been taught that a person could not live without sin.

IMAGINE MY SURPRISE.

Attending a Sunday morning Holiness meeting, I heard the captain say, "We must live pure and holy, and free from sin."

I could hardly believe my ears. He said "Some people tell us we must sin, in thought, word or deed. Thank God, I can tell you of a Saviour, Who not only can forgive sin, but can take from us that which makes us sin."

THEN BEGAN A STRUGGLE.

In my own soul to obtain this blessing. I realized that if I was to be used by God, I must have it. My temper seemed to be the worst enemy I had to conquer. I tried again and again to get the victory over it, but failed.

Perhaps no one would know I was cross, but I felt it inside all the same. I almost despaired of ever being set free.

I came to the penitential-form several times, and each time believed I had conquered. But on the very first occasion I felt it there as bad as ever. At last, I came to Jesus, and instead of trying myself, I let Him do the work. Praise God, He cleansed me, and is giving me the victory continually.—ROBERT H. PHINNEY, S. C., Truro.

The meeting consequently ran

LIKE A KNOTLESS THREAD.

No holding back or hesitation, either in prayer, choruses or testimony, but a new sensation was in store for some—the writer among the number.

The room where the meeting is held is off the great hall, or barracks, having two doors to it. The Ensign, in the exuberance of his joy, threw open one of these, crying, "I feel as if I must have a march, come on comrades,"—and off he started with the tall Lieutenant, shouting a ringing chorus, into the barracks proper, followed two and two by the 50 or 60 who composed the meeting.

The last, or those who kept their seats, were a study—mostly church members. Doubtless, some were shocked.

It was by first introducing to such an "exercise"—marching, singing, clapping round the great hall we went, entering the knee-drill room by the other door, and so continuing the meeting.

IN A HIGH CHURCH ECCLESIASTICAL BUILDING a few hours later, eleven o'clock, differing very little from the Romish.

As the large, devout congregation of well dressed people waited for the commencement of the service, presently a sound of voices stole softly on the ear, coming from a distant part of the building.

A door opens, the congregation rose to their feet, turn to the "procession" which slowly emerged from vestry, chanting with the perfect harmony which practice gives. "Onward Christian soldiers, marching as to war, with the cross of Jesus, leading on before." Yes, there was the cross, and the sweet-faced young choristers in their pure white surplices, the men with their fuller, stronger voices, and then the "clergy" walking two and two, two and two, with the palms of their hands joined, and their eyes devoutly looking upwards. The whole service effect artistic in the extreme, and just what the natural heart craves and delights in.

A LITERAL CROSS, CERTAINLY,

With a smile both on heart and life, I said to myself, as we sang with glad heart and voice the precious choruses which contains the whole gospel—"Christ is all, yes, all in all, my Christ is all in all," and again the repeat went—"In full assurance of faith"—HEB. x-22 "Christ is all, yes, all in all, my Christ is all in all."—Extremes meet.—AUXILIARY.

ON THE CROSS see Jesus hand to a world of rebels the life-buoy, and sink beneath the waves of His Father's hate of sin. Are we prepared to do the same? Are we willing to throw aside the life-buoys of home, money, comfort, and worldly ease, nay, of life itself, that we may save others?

BETRAYALS.

Still as of old.

For thirty years Judas sold
Himself—not Christ.

JUDAS betrayed his Master and then hanged himself. Conners would be kept busy if every betrayer of Jesus did likewise.

PETER—Others might flinch but he would stand. Soon the Master was in the hands of enemies. Yet His case was by no means lost. The governor was on His side; many of the people were secretly for Him; nothing could be proved against Him; and above all, He Who had saved others could save Himself. Yet as Peter saw the scowling faces his courage failed. A servant maid looked into his eye, and the eye fell. She said she thought He belonged to Jesus of Nazareth; his heart sank and he said, "No." Then another looked in his face and repeated the same suspicion. Now of course he was more cowardly and repeated his "No." A third looked upon him and insisted that he belonged to the accused Prophet. Now his poor heart was all fluttering; and to make it plain he had nothing to do with Jesus of Nazareth, he began to curse and swear.

It is within the same breast where this pale and tremulous heart quaked that we see glowing a brave heart which dreads neither the power of the authorities nor the violence of the populace, which faces every peril as a vice of Jerusalem, every bitter Pharise and every street brawler, as if they were no more than straying and troublesome sheep.—"The Tongue of Fire."—WILLIAM ARTHUR.

A H I love, sweet love;
Thy love alone fulfils the law's demands,
And love alone fulfils the Lord's commands,
From Heaven above.
But let me learn to love; with love me fill;
Devoid of aught beside, I'd ever be still.
—GEORGE LOGAN.

THE TOUCHING PRAYER.

"Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."—LUKE XXIII, 34.

Perhaps the most touching prayer in the Bible. Cross surrounded by enemies of one who hangs bleeding, yet, passing strange, such a cry from inspired lips. "Father, forgive," not "Father, send ten thousand angels and slay them;" not "Father, cause a myriad forked lightnings to destroy them;"—"No, though they are His true, cruel enemies, He prays for them.

How unlike the natural heart, that He who was hanged, yet divine, triumphed.

What He did for these persecutors, sinner, listen, He is doing for you—now. He prays for you.

You are patting thorns as sharp, nails as cruel, upon as readily into your Saviour for your cold, selfish indifference to His own great love for Him, your betrayal of Him. Yet He prays for you—"Father, forgive!"

Here is a mercy, a love, a compassion, which shows an open door before you if you will confess and renounce sin. If not, the cry, "Father, forgive," shall soon be heard no more, and the door shall be shut in its place will be, "Bind him hand and foot and cast him out."

Don't presume. Yield while He prays, "Forgive."—COMMANDER BALLINGTON BOOTH.

"His visage was so marred more than any man, and His form more than the sons of men"—ISAIAH LII 14.

HE ROSE.—This was the strongest proof of the divinity of Christ. What is righteous, true, divine, always conquers, always comes out on top.

Had Christ done all other things and failed to rise from the grave, He would have proved himself a false prophet after all.

What thrilled my very soul on our dear old General walked on the platform the first night I saw him, was the thought, HERE IS A MAN WHO CONQUERS. Men and devils have tried to bury him, sometimes they thought he was done with and safely.

ENTOMBED IN FALSEHOOD AND SHAME, but God has sent an angel and rolled away the stone, and he has come out to more solid victory than ever.

I have learned a great lesson from the life of the General. He conquers because he honors Jesus Christ, the Author of all victory.

While visiting lately, we entered the house of a Roman Catholic. She talked freely and naturally of her religion, told us at once what she was, explained different points to us just as simply as though it was any common matter. I thought, well, thank God here is one soul who is not ashamed of her religion and her God, she honors God far more than scores who would say she was all wrong.

Just then a few came in, in a few moments we knelt to pray, he sat in his chair and never bent his knee at the name of Christ. I thought, here are two souls who are consistent to what they profess to believe, who honor the religion they profess; and I could not help respecting them for their honesty.

Conquerors, let us honor our religion, let us be consistent, let us boldly stand up for the honor of Jesus Christ. Then in His power we shall always conquer, we shall rise triumphant over men and devils. You will never convince anyone that you are a divine man or woman in any other way.—CAPTAIN PARKES.

WARNING!

RIDGETOWN, ONT.—Dear Editor, Would you kindly put a few lines in the "Cry," warning the officers and soldiers of these parts of a "dead beat," who is going around making a living by living on the soldiers and the officers of the neighboring corps. He is a man of stout build, medium height, light complexioned, wears full soldiers' uniform, gummey and tunic, and cap, with an American Bandman's badge. Professes to be a soldier of some neighboring corps. I know quite a few people he has taken in, as he stays at every corps as long as he can get people to board him. Yours in the War, Lieut. Henry F. Tooke for Capt. Shaw.

Salvation, oh, Salvation!
The Joyful Sound Proclaim.

Tune—"Only an Armor-Bearer."

Only a woman warrior marching to the war,
Ready for Jesus Christ to do or dare;
Telling His wondrous love to all abroad,
Through the fire and blood.

Chorus.

Forward for God and souls, answering the call,
Willing, if need should be, at her post to fall;
Foes may surround her, yet she scorns to flee,
Though but a woman warrior she may be.

Only a woman warrior heeding the call,
Leaving both home and friends, surrendering all,
Fighting to rescue souls from sin's dark night;
Bringing them to Jesus, who will put them right.

Only a woman-warrior, with life so fair,
Helping to rescue souls from dark despair;
Entering the houses of the poor and sad,
Cheering up the suffering, making dark hearts glad.

Only a woman-warrior, true to the last,
War crowned with victory, the conflict past;
Triumphant entrance into Heaven she's won,
With her crown receiving the Master's words "Well done."

Tune—"Turn to the Lord." B. J., 77; or "Hail. Thine once despised Jesus." B. J., 125.

Sinner, Jesus died to save you,
Why His offered mercy spurn?
When the blessed Lord does love thee,
And for thy salvation yearns.

Chorus.

Turn to the Lord and seek Salvation,
Come to Him without delay,
Jesus Christ has died to save you,
He can wash your sin away.

Soon will pass His day of mercy,
And thy soul will have to go,
Bare before thy God and Maker,
There to reap what thou sow.

While there's time no more reject Him,
Soon will pass thy day of grace;
Sinner, Jesus died to save you,
Died to save a fallen race.

TO BE REMOVED TO THE SPROLE BLOCK IN APRIL—PREPARATION FOR MEN'S SHELTERS.

The upper portions of the Sprole block are scarcely recognizable now, for the Army boys have been at them, and under the directions of Ensign Clarke, are converting their space into a shelter for the time of hardship, although many who are not exactly "on their heels" will, no doubt, take advantage of the facilities offered at such reasonable rates, and everything being so scrupulously clean, sweet and comfortable, no mistake can be made in this direction. The back portion of the block has been arranged into one big room, in which will be located no fewer than sixty beds. There will be fitted on spring mattresses, and as the ventilation will be excellent, there is nothing more to be desired. Connected with this room there are hot and cold water baths, lavatories, etc. It is expected that the place will be opened early in April.

Major Bennett, Ensigns Dawlings and Clarke will also remove to the same block, with their respective families, quarters having been allotted to them along the front and south sides, and the head office of the army

Tune—"Ho, my comrades!" or "Joy without alloy." B. J., 94, or "Pass me not." B. J., 14, with old chorus.

Sinner, Jesus waits to pardon,
You from sin to free;
He'll give liberty.

Chorus.

Come to Jesus, weary sinner,
Come to Him and live;
Come and seek His blessed favor,
He will now forgive.

Jesus came in great compassion,
From His home above;
Came to die for guilty sinners,
Suffered out of love.

See Him in the garden kneeling,
See Him die for thee;
Hear Him crying, "It is finished,"
"All may now go free."

Haste then to the Cross of Calvary.
Jesus calls you now;
He will pardon and receive you,
And His grace bestow.

Tune—"Over Jordan." B. J., 17.

I shall ne'er forget the day
When I first began to pray,
And my burden rolled away,
Hallelujah!

He did liberate the slave,
And my guilty soul did save,
When I plunged beneath the wave,
Hallelujah!

Chorus.

Hallelujah! Hallelujah!
Jesus paid the debt for me
On the Cross at Calvary;
Hallelujah! Hallelujah!
Bless His name He sets me free.
Hallelujah!

When amidst a giddy throng,
I am tempted to do wrong,
I can sing the blessed song,
Hallelujah!

Though they laugh and scoff, and sneer,
I have nothing now to fear,
For my Saviour's always near,
Hallelujah!

I am going by-and-by
To that place beyond the sky,
Where the saints shall never die,
Hallelujah!

When I reach the shining shore,
I shall sing for ever more,
Songs I never knew before,
Hallelujah!

will be removed to the same building. The eating room will be on the ground floor in the store recently occupied by the provincial immigration department. Speaking to a reporter about the matter, Ensign Clarke said he would be glad of subscriptions of glass, paint, money or ceiling timber from any friends who might have a little of either to spare.—Winnipeg Tribune.
